Tom is the Co-head of Lee & Ko's International Tax Practice. Tom advises Korean and foreign companies, investment funds and other investors on tax matters. He practices primarily in international tax and M&A tax, including inbound and outbound acquisition structuring, financing, reorganization, cross-border transactions and offshore/onshore fund formation and structuring from tax perspective. Tom's practice also involves advising clients on tax controversies and disputes as well as matters involving investor's protection.

Tom has over 18 years of international tax experience in Korea and in the U.S. Prior to joining Lee & Ko, Tom was a director in Deloitte's M&A and International Tax Group. Tom has been involved in many of the major transactions (both buy and sell-side) in Korea for foreign and Korean investors, including private equity funds, since 2008.

Tom is a member of the International Bar Association, the International Fiscal Association Korea, and the American Chamber of Commerce in Korea.
